SMASH THE IRA!

BNP hurls defiance at the terrorists and their pathetic Tory apologists

SATURDAY 30th of January was an important day for the British National Party: It was the date of the first National Activity of 1993.

The activity was called to oppose a march by IRA supporters through the streets of central London.

It was with a mixture of disgust and disbelief that the British people — and the BNP in particular — learned of John Major's decision to allow a handful of the terrorist's apologists to march through the capital, less than 48 hours after the IRA bombed the Harrod's department store with the clear intention of causing death and injury to members of the public.

There could be no clearer indication of the Tory Government's support for the IRA's stated aim of forcing Ulster to leave the United Kingdom.

The Government had all the legal powers necessary to prevent this march — and would certainly have received overwhelming public support for such a move. Its failure to do so, therefore, served to demonstrate that the Tories are sympathetic to both the aims and methods of the IRA. Worse, it showed their contempt for the thousands of British people murdered or maimed by the terrorists.

BNP SUPPORTERS

On the day in question, around 450 BNP supporters turned out to oppose the march, which consisted of less than 200 of the usual communists, queers and rent-a-mob types who traditionally turn out for any kind of anti-British event.

The feeble turn-out on the part of the reds created an embarrassing problem for the Establishment: How would they manage to protect their communist footsoldiers from the anger of the BNP and the British public?

The answer came in the form of a KGB-style operation to arrest almost 400 BNP supporters and detain them for three hours until the communists had finally shuffled down Edgeware Road.

ILLEGALITY

The illegality of this move was demonstrated by the fact that only three detainees were charged with any offence. Several of those rounded up were bewildered shoppers and tourists who were unconnected with the demonstration! It is worth noting that the orders for the police operation came directly from the Government, and many ordinary constables privately expressed their disgust that they were being ordered to harass the British National Party while protecting the IRA supporters. In fact, a group of clearly patriotic constables advised BNP supporters who were arrested to sue the Metropolitan Police for wrongful arrest. One constable remarked: "If I wasn't wearing this uniform I'd be marching with the BNP myself!"

The IRA march eventually shuffled into view, over two hours late. As usual, the brave 'revolutionaries' were cowering behind the police. The march was heckled by around fifty BNP supporters who had evaded arrest, supported by dozens of market traders and members of the public who welcomed the BNP's opposition to IRA terrorism.

The IRA and communist trash made a disgusting and rather pitiful sight, a few dozen unwashed students, foul-smelling 'crusties,' and middle-class queers.

Their demoralised shuffle changed to a brisk trot as the BNP and angry members of the public gave chase, pursuing the unwashed red rabble down the road until they scuttled out of sight behind rows of mounted police.

The day was a resounding success for the BNP, which has given notice to the reds that provocative marches such as this will no longer be able to proceed unopposed. The BNP is increasingly winning the battle of the streets, as surely as it is winning the electoral battle at the ballot box.

ON GOVERNMENT ORDERS, nearly four hundred BNP supporters were rounded up by the police in order that the IRA march could proceed along Edgeware Road. The BNP still staged a successful counter-demonstration.

Quote from the media

Two Rallies

AT a rally in Londonderry on the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday", when 13 people were killed by para-troopers in 1972, Mr Patrick Hill, one of the "Birmingham Six" whose release from prison caused such rejoicing in the street of London, said of the security forces on duty: "There is only way to send them back home, and that is in boxes."

Over here in London on the same day there was a "Troops Out" rally in which Mr Hill's admirers must have been well represented. More than 300 people, mostly members of the British National Party, are said to have been arrested.

An alternative scenario: to protect them from the angry British public, the "Troops Out" demonstrators are all arrested before they can march a yard. That, as the saying is, will be the day.

From the 'Peter Simple' column of the Sunday Telegraph, February 7th

The BNP CAN sue the police

The BNP has taken legal advice regarding the hundreds of supporters detained by the Metropolitan Police during the IRA demonstration, and has been informed that those who were arrested have a very strong case for suing the police for wrongful arrest and false imprisonment.

Plaintiffs in similar cases have won damages of between £250 and £1,000. We therefore most strongly urge that those people concerned should contact a solicitor, or at the very least make a formal complaint to the Metropolitan Police Commissioner. The police have a legal obligation to investigate complaints against them.

It appears that the police were acting under orders from the very highest levels, and were told to clear the streets of any potential opponents of the IRA in order that the so-called 'bloody Sunday' demonstration could pass through the streets. The mass-arrests were apparently the result of panic among higher ranking officers, who over-reacted when they saw the

THE POWER OF THE MEDIA

One force in Britain which needs to be brought to heel is the media.

The mass media are controlled by a tiny group of individuals and interest groups. They exercise considerable power over the public mind, shaping opinion and setting the political and moral agenda. This makes them more powerful than any politician or public figure.

Most newspaper readers and TV viewers remain unaware of this, since the controllers of the media do not go out of their way to draw attention to it.

On any given issue, the media can choose to generate an artificial `tide of opinion' too strong for any politician to ignore — even if the direction in which events are driven is absolutely disastrous to the true interests of the nation.

By the same token, they can secretly collaborate to avoid mention of any truth, however vital it might be for the future of the nation that it should be known.

Thus, over the last few years Britain has been stampeded into distant quarrels which are none of her business and in which she has no interest.

British servicemen are sent to their deaths to oppose the `tyranny' of Iraq or Serbia while far worse atrocities committed by `brave little Israel' have been ignored by the media for the last 45 years. Despite violating any number of UN resolutions and expelling the Palestinian people from their homeland, the media have never suggested that Israel should be punished by `surgical strikes' against her armed forces, nuclear weapons factories or population centres, nor have her rulers been declared "war criminals" like the leaders of Serbia.

This state of affairs continues not least because the media has not seen fit to draw attention to Israeli crimes.

At the end of all this, as a result of being mixed up in such `peace-keeping' activities against certain carefully chosen targets — but no others — Britain will have needlessly earned the hatred of 11 million Serbs and 100 million Arabs, for no conceivable purpose.

Meanwhile, whilst inciting Britain to meddle in the Balkans and the Middle East our media seem struck dumb about the problems in her own back yard — especially the racial problems. Right here at home Britain is sinking to the level of a third world slum riven with racial tension.

If the media were as concerned about the peace of Great Britain as they claim to be about the peace of Bosnia and the Gulf they could use their awesome influence over public opinion to bring about the repatriation of our immigrants.

The notion of `freedom of the press' is in reality no more than the `freedom' to incite the British public to hysteria in alien causes and to censor vital truths by a wall of silence. This amounts to power without responsibility.

Such a state of affairs is intolerable in the long term. Almost the first duty of a Nationalist Government will be to reform the media. They must cease to serve private aims and interests which too often have nothing to do with the national good, and instead become an asset at the disposal of the nation for the promotion of its well-being.

HOW GREAT NATIONS ARE CONQUERED

Threat to America sounds warning to us all

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY has sometimes been referred to as the 'American Century'. It doesn't seem long ago that World War II came to an end with the United States indisputedly the world's greatest power. America had everything going for her: an enormous territory, immense natural riches, a large and capable population; the US economy was easily the world's strongest and most dynamic; the productive capacity of US industry far exceeded all others. Of all the nations, America seemed the most invincible.

America had another great advantage too. Her geographical situation put her in a position of almost total invulnerability to outside invasion and conquest. Any nation, or coalition of nations, that might have been strong enough to accomplish that were too far away. Of her neighbours, Canada to the north, apart from being friendly, had barely a tenth of the US population. Mexico to the south was poor and backward. The rest of the nations of the western hemisphere ranged from minor powers like Chile and Argentina to miniature comic-opera republics like Guatemala and Nigaragua.

IMPREGNABILITY

Such was America's apparent strategic impregnability that up till World War I, despite her enormous size, she maintained armed forces quite tiny by comparison with the leading European powers. By the end of the Second World War, however, these forces had swollen to huge dimensions, as well as being backed up by the world's most sophisticated military technology.

Just supposing anyone in those post-war days of US world supremacy had suggested that before a century had passed America would succumb to alien conquest. They would have been dismissed as insane.

But if things now carry on as they are this is exactly what's going to happen!

And it's going to happen without any foreign army having to fire a shot in anger!

The United States of America is scheduled — possibly by the year 2025 but at the latest by 2050 — to be conquered through immigration.

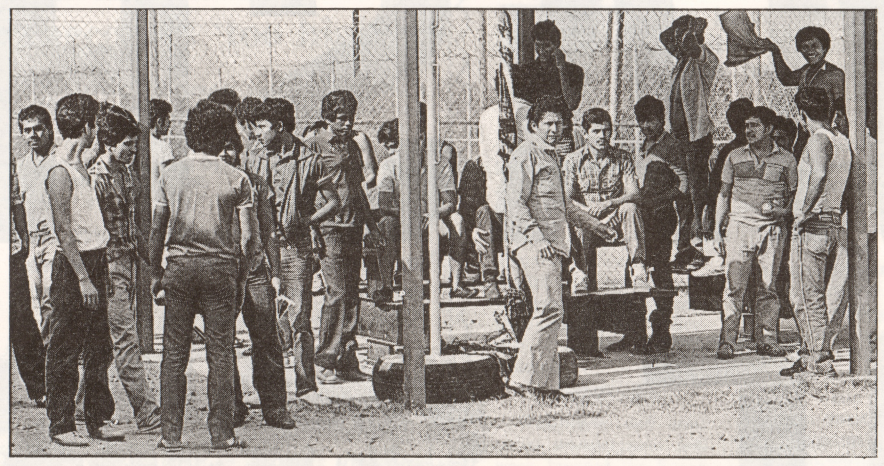
What has been evident for some time to those 'in the know' has now been admitted publicly in an article in the Daily Mail (January 19th). Reporting from New York, columnist George Gordon said:—

> "Last week a respected research body here made the prediction that by the year 2050 the present rates of legal and illegal immigration will guarantee that America's population will jump by 50 per cent to 383 million.
> "The country of the Founding Fathers will, more significantly, also have changed hue. Hispanics will overtake African Americans to become the largest minority group, more than 21 per—cent of the total.
> "Asians and Pacific Islanders will increase five—gold to exceed 12 per cent and the other diverse groups will nudge the minorities' total to over 50 per cent.

In other words, those people whom we are accustomed to regarding as Americans — the descendants of the Anglo-Saxons and other Europeans who built the United States into the world's greatest power — will have lost their country!

They will have been conquered as surely and effectively as if a foreign army had invaded American soil and taken the country over by armed force.

Negroes, Hispanics, Asians and other 'minorities' — not to forget the Jews — will together have become the majority and the real Americans — WASPs, Irish, German-Americans and others of the old stock — will have to bend to their will.



THE FRIGHTENING FUTURE
The Daily Mail (19th January) shows what awaits the United States if present immigration trends continue. The same fate will befall Britain if we don't heed the warnings from across the Atlantic.

Some areas have got to this point already. Says Gordon: "Huge parts of Miami are Spanish-speaking and entire expanding areas of California and Texas are Mexican...It is now possible to grow up in America and never speak English. School lessons are actually conducted in Spanish."

ALIEN TAKEOVER

And already the alien takeover is being reflected in the deteriorating performance of American Industry.

The country that was once the world's leader in manufacturing is now being outclassed and outproduced by the Japs and the Germans whom America helped to vanquish in World War II. The reason? America's workforce has changed. Ethnic minorities now make up a vast proportion of the people manning her factories.

There is another reason why Whites are doomed to be a minority in the States by the middle of the next century. White families are having far fewer children, while the 'new Americans' are breeding like rabbits.

The Whites have swallowed the idea of 'birth control', and have taken the path to extinction — as did the dinosaurs of long ago.

Should any of this be of concern to us? It most certainly should — because Britain is heading in exactly the same direction!

The rate of immigration into this country, added to a similarly low birthrate on the part of the native Brits, is changing whole areas of our homeland. If things continue as at present, we'll take a little longer to become a minority in our own country than our American cousins will — maybe a century instead of half a century. But it's going to happen. Our great, great, great grandchildren will see it even if we don't!

And, you can be sure, they'll curse us for our folly and cowardice in doing nothing about it when we still had the chance.

That's the prospect for the future, folks. And if you want to take a look into the future without the use of a crystal ball, just take a trip to some parts of Inner London, Leicester, Bradford, Handsworth (Birmingham) and Moss Side (Manchester).

It isn't too late to save Britain being taken over. We can still stop it if we act — now!

But if we remain apathetic, if we stay stuck by the gogglebox when we should be out on the streets warning our compatriots of the fate awaiting them — most of all if we shrivel up in terror at the though of being dubbed with the label 'racist' — you can bet on it, we'll lose our country; we'll be finished!

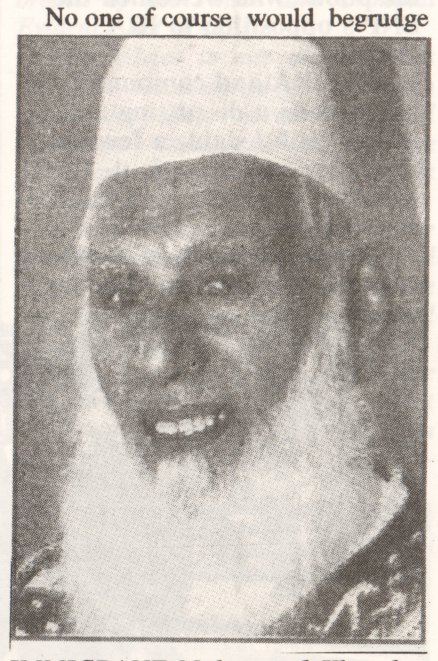
JUST PLAIN POTTY!

Loony-left council rebuilds immigrant's toilet so it doesn't face Mecca

LOONY left-wing Kirklees Council has spent hundreds of pounds to replace a toilet — because by facing Mecca, it offended the Islamic religion.

Pakistani immigrant Muhammed Khan pitched up in Britain only four years ago, but has already gained a luxury council house, a state pension — and now a new toilet.

No one of course would begrudge



IMMIGRANT Muhammed Khan has only been in Britain four years, yet has already obtained a state pension and a luxury council house, despite Britain's chronic homelessness.

Mr Khan the use of a toilet. The point is, that he already had a perfectly good toilet in the first place, but it happened to face Mecca.

Here we have a perfect example of Establishment hypocrisy: Pakistani immigrants are supposed to be as 'British' as you and I, yet we are continually being ordered to make concessions to their way of life.

Immigrants such as Mr Khan clearly have no intention of abandoning their own culture.

DEMANDS

Muslim demands of course do not end with changing the direction of toilets. Is an alien religion such as Islam therefore compatible with the British way of life?

According to a report in the Daily Telegraph (6 Feb 1993):

> "The persecution of Christians in Islamic countries has reached new heights, ranging from mass crucifixions in Sudan to draconian new religious laws in Pakistan..."

According to the Jubilee Campaign, a Christian pressure group, Muslim intolerance has led to a "genocidal reign of terror" in Sudan, where whole villages of Christians had been crucified by government soldiers.

In Pakistan, the imposition of Sharia (Islamic law) has led to the first death sentence against a Christian for "blasphemy against the prophet."

In Saudi Arabia, Christianity is illegal, and Allied troops supposedly protecting that country from Iraq are forbidden from wearing crosses in public.

The BNP would not presume to dictate the law in Islamic countries; Therefore, it is only right that Muslims in Britain should respect our customs.

A TOILET may seem like a minor matter for a serious political paper, but the story illustrates an important point: That the alien religions and customs of the third world are utterly at odds with the British way of life.*

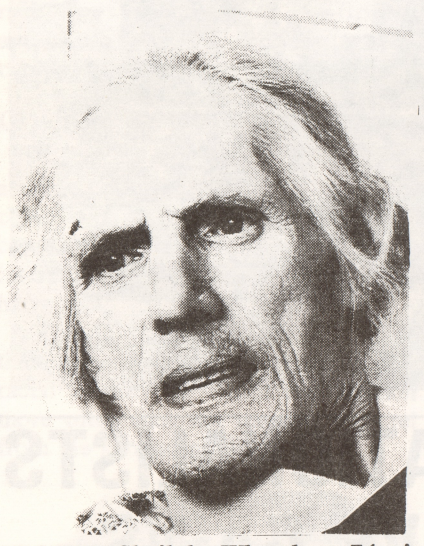
How long will it be before they are numerically strong enough to impose their own culture upon the British? In many areas, it is already happening.

VIOLENT BRITAIN

'Liberal' judges fail to punish killers, rapists and evil thugs

EVIL MUGGER Jason McLean brutally killed a 74-year-old lady — yet walked free from jail after only two years.

McLean was just fourteen when he killed elderly spinster Sheilah Wheatley during a 'routine' mugging.



VICTIM Sheilah Wheatley, 74, in hospital after the attack. She died from a blood clot just two weeks later.

The killer later boasted: "There was this cracking noise as she fell and I knew I had killed her. Something told me I had gone too far but I pulled the bag from her hand and scarpered."

NO REMORSE

McLean, now 22, feels no remorse for the vicious attack, and currently lives on social security with his wife and two children. He calls himself 'Damien 666' after the devil's child in The Omen, and spends his time running 'rave' discos and getting high on Ecstasy and other drugs.

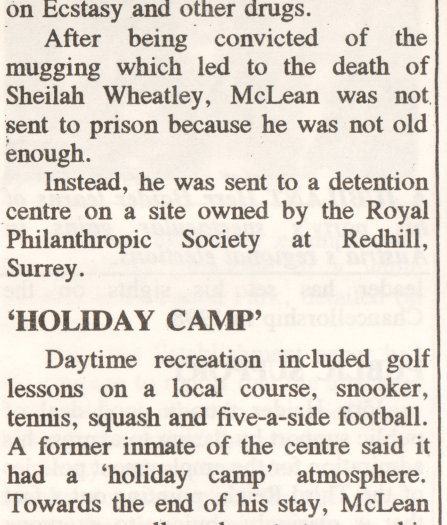
After being convicted of the mugging which led to the death of Sheilah Wheatley, McLean was not sent to prison because he was not old enough.

Instead, he was sent to a detention centre on a site owned by the Royal Philanthropic Society at Redhill, Surrey.

'HOLIDAY CAMP'

Daytime recreation included golf lessons on a local course, snooker, tennis, squash and five-a-side football. A former inmate of the centre said it had a 'holiday camp' atmosphere. Towards the end of his stay, McLean was even allowed out to see his girlfriend three nights a week until 10.30 at night.

Incredibly, despite being convicted of drug dealing since his release, McLean is still a free man, and thoroughly enjoying his life on the dole — courtesy of the British tax-payer.



JUDGE John Prosser apparently believes that a £500 fine is an adequate punishment for a rapist.

Another 'example of the breath-taking arrogance of the liberal mind was provided last month by Judge John Prosser, who fined a teenage rapist just £500, adding the flippant remark that the 15-year-old victim should "buy herself a nice holiday" with the money.

KILLER Jason McLean. He spent two years in 'holiday camp' detention center, and now claims British dole.

With 'justice' like this, it is no wonder that Britain has become such a violent, brutalised society.

BANKRUPT BRITAIN

Hunger Chancellor allows foreign spivs to profit from Britain's economic catastrophe

These are the sort of people to whom Hunger Chancellor Norman Lamont has entrusted the running of the British economy.

In an orgy of greed, foreign speculators and 'recession profiteers' are making literally billions of pounds from our economic misery. Each time the Government creates a new sterling crisis, billions of dollars worth of currency is shuffled back and forth across the computer screens, from which the foreign-based spivs take their percentage.

In January, we reported how Hungarian jew George Soros had made over a billion dollars by selling sterling during the ERM crisis last September. It appears that last month he was up to his old tricks again.

According to a report in the Daily Telegraph (10 February 1993):

"Adding to market tension were rumours that the arch-speculator Mr George Soros, whose Quantum Fund admits to making huge profits out of the September sterling crisis, was among those selling pounds yesterday."

The Today newspaper reported that the effect of the various devaluations of sterling, and the interest rate fluctuations, had cost the average adult in Britain over five hundred pounds over the last year.

What is certain is that over 70,000 families lost their homes last year, and unemployment now officially stands at three million.

Nice one, Norman.

Leyland: another victim of government lunacy

COMPANY COULD BE THRIVING BUT FOR IMPORT INVASION OF BRITISH MARKET

THERE'S no let up. As we go to press this month, yet another great British manufacturing company is tottering. This time it's what remains of the once mighty Leyland motor firm. Last month the receivers were called in as the firm, in recent times a subsidiary of the Dutch-based DAF company, was declared near to bankruptcy.

Leyland, which once was almost wholly British and produced a vast range of motor vehicles of all types, was reduced to penury by the mid-eighties as a result of governments allowing the British motor market to be penetrated by a flood of foreign products. Then, in 1987, the Government of the time, under the premiership of Mrs. Thatcher, proudly announced that it was going to let the commercial vehicle division of the company be taken over by DAF — thus letting go the last large-scale British truck manufacturer in this country into foreign hands.

TAKEOVER

The DAF takeover, the Government said at the time, would be the saving of Leyland by joining it to a large and powerful company. It mattered not that the company was no longer British; what counted was that it would now enjoy the benefits of the greater resources that the marriage to DAF would make possible.

Well, less than six years afterwards, Leyland is facing close-down due to the collapse of its Dutch parent. Surely a case of famous last words!

If the company collapses, up to 15,000 jobs are likely to be lost. But that would just be the beginning. Countless more thousands would be put out of work by the effect on the many companies, large and small, that provide supplies and services to Leyland. In fact the town in Lancashire from which it gets its name would be almost ruined.

At the moment the Government is rushing hither and thither trying to tie up a package for the rescue of the British end of the company. Reports make it clear that it is almost certain that this will come — if it comes — in the form of another foreign takeover, this time probably by the Japs. The very idea of a British company being sustained by British enterprise and British capital is wholly alien to Tory economic philosophy.

HAVOC

In fact Leyland is a much more efficient company than it was in the bad days of 'Red Robbo', the left-wing agitator who caused havoc by so many stoppages in the seventies and early eighties. It has the largest share of the British market for lorries. This, however, simply is not enough to keep it afloat in the present recession, in which sales have been hit by about half. Of course, if the Government had the courage to close the market to foreign-produced products, not only would Leyland recover and thrive but other British truck-makers would benefit immensely as well. But there's no chance of that commonsense policy being adopted. Free trade is the government religion. British firms must continue to be allowed to go to the wall in the cause of internationalism.

EMBARRASSMENT

Labour is currently trying to make capital out of the Government's embarrassment over Leyland, but it offers no alternative policy beyond the use of vast amounts of taxpayers' money to keep going a company which will be a dead duck as long as imports are not stopped. Nowhere has Labour offered a policy which tackles the problem at its roots by stopping the import flood. This is no surprise because Labour, like the Tories, refuses to countenance nationalist solutions to the breakdown of British industry.

BRITISH OWNERSHIP

Firms like Leyland must be saved for Britain — and furthermore they must be restored where necessary to British ownership so that the decisions affecting their survival are made in Britain and not abroad. But these firms can only prosper if they have exclusive call on the British home market by the shutting out of unnecessary imports. This is the way of Nationalism. And it is the only way that offers hope.

Defend British interests only!

WITH THE ARMED FORCES FEELING THE EFFECT OF GOVERNMENT CUTS, IT'S TIME TO BRING OUR SERVICEMEN HOME FROM FOREIGN PARTS WHERE WE HAVE NO BUSINESS

THE MAJOR GOVERNMENT, in order to compensate for its own economic incompetence, is desperately looking for ways of saving money. One way it has chosen is to cut the armed forces to the point at which they are dangerously undermanned and under-equipped.

In a report in The Mail on Sunday (January 24th) it was stated that:-

> "At the Ministry of Defence they are calling it Operation Overstretch. It is the bitter buzz-word for a British Army at breaking point: a modern army being asked to do more and more with fewer men and munitions and less money.
> "The situation has never been so grave, or morale so low, according to the most senior officers in Whitehall. The size of the Army is being cut by a quarter from 156,000 to 116,000...
> "Meanwhile — at the behest of the very politicians who approved these cruel manpower cuts — the British Army is playing an increasingly important role, policing the political flashpoints of the world."

The report went on to give a breakdown of the areas in which British servicemen and women including those of other arms) are deployed around the world, which was as follows: Belize 1,400; Cyprus 2,743; Hong Kong 6,500; Brunei 700; Former Yugoslavia 3,000; the Falklands 500; Northern Ireland 18,400; Mainland Britain 85,000; Germany 53,000.

NO BUSINESS

Staightaway it can be seen that 67,343 of the personnel listed are in places where they have no business to be at all!

The report states that British forces are in Belize to protect the independence of that tiny country against claims from Guatemala. What the hell does the independence of Belize matter to us? Guatamala can have it for all we care!

It says that we are in Cyprus to carry out "peacekeeping duties between Greek and Turkish sectors." Why should we bother about keeping the peace between Greeks and Turks?

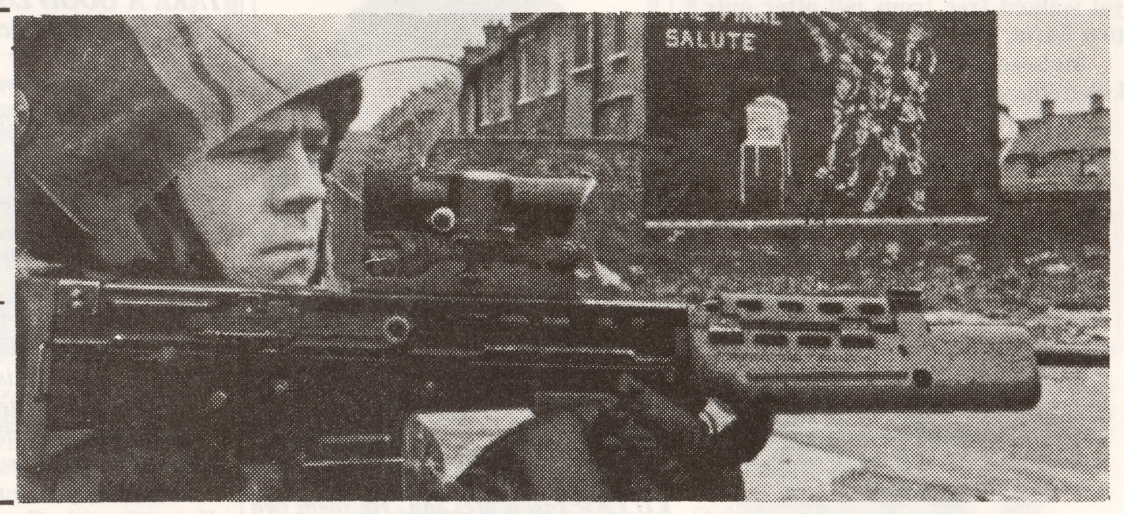
In Hong Kong our role, so the report goes, is to guard the colony until the 1997 handover to China. As we have said before in this paper, why not get out and hand over to China now? If we leave in 1993 instead of 1997 no vital British interest will be damaged in the slightest bit, and we will have saved ourselves a lot of trouble and money.

We have 700 personnel in Brunei to provide "military training and security." Security for whom — Brunei? Why should we? As for training, why can it not be done elsewhere?

It is certainy right that we keep troops in the Falklands, for these are British territory and the Falklanders are British people. If we'd had adequate forces there in 1992 the Argentines would almost certainly not have invaded. 500 are probably not enough; we could do with at least twice as many.

NORTHERN IRELAND

We certainly need the troops in Northern Ireland – although if the Government cared to give the orders to smash the republican terrorists in the proper manner and showed real will to keep the province British it wouldn't be long before the need for forces there would be greatly reduced.



A BRITISH soldier in Ulster. At a time when our troops are urgently needed to protect our British kinfolk in Northern Ireland, why is John Major sending them to Bosnia? If he is trying to save money, it seems a strange way to go about it.

But what about the former Yugoslavia? What is going on there is a foreign quarrel in which Britain should in no way be involved. We should bring the 3,000 home immediately.

But the most insane policy of all is that of keeping 53,000 service personnel in Germany. World War II ended 48 years ago. With Russia bankrupt and exhausted and communism dismantled, the cold war no longer exists. Just what on earth are we doing keeping nearly a third of our forces in the Federal Republic when they are needed elsewhere?

The British National Party has a simple policy where Britain's armed forces are concerned. It is that they should be deployed only where the vital national interests of this country require their deployment. At the present moment this means the United Kingdom (including Northern Ireland) and the Falklands.

Bring them back from other parts of the world, and the crippling problems we have maintaining them up to strength will disappear.

THE NATURAL consequence of meddling in foreign wars that are no concern of ours: The first British soldier to die in Bosnia is buried. Why is the Government squandering British lives and money in this far-away conflict?

AUSTRIAN NATIONALISTS MAKE MASSIVE GAINS

Jubilation as Austria defies Mossad terror threat

1993 HAS SO FAR not been a very successful year for Israel's state terrorist organisation, Mossad.

Less than two months after vowing to smash Nationalist organisations across Europe, the Israelis have been forced to concede a massive defeat in Austria.

20 PER CENT VOTE

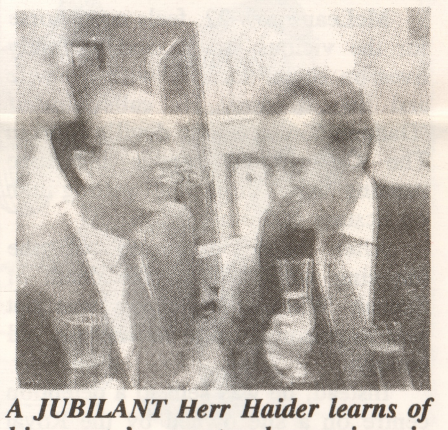
The nationalist Freiheit Partei (Freedom Party) led by popular politician Jörg Haider, scored an incredible 20 per cent of the vote nationwide in local elections held last month, doubling its previous score in many areas.

In common with Britain and many other European countries, the Austrians are heartily sick of mass immigration and the social ills which go along with it.

In recent years, Austria's 'Sound of Music' image has been tarnished by mass immigration from the third world, organised crime, drug dealing and a corrupt gang of Establishment politicians — a scenario sadly familiar to us here in Britain.

In the proud tradition of another famous Austrian some decades ago, Herr Haider has set about creating a nationalist political movement to set his country back on the right path.

Following the success of his election campaign last month, the FP leader has set his sights on the Chancellorship in 1998.



A JUBILANT Herr Haider learns of his party's spectacular gains in Austria's regional elections.

PUBLIC SUPPORT

Jörg Haider won a good deal of public support by daring to express his admiration for the employment policies of the Third Reich, pointing out a fact that is glaringly obvious to everyone except the corrupt 'old gang' of Austrian politics: Unemployment could be wiped out at a stroke by repatriating the hundreds of thousands of third world 'refugees' streaming across Austria's borders.

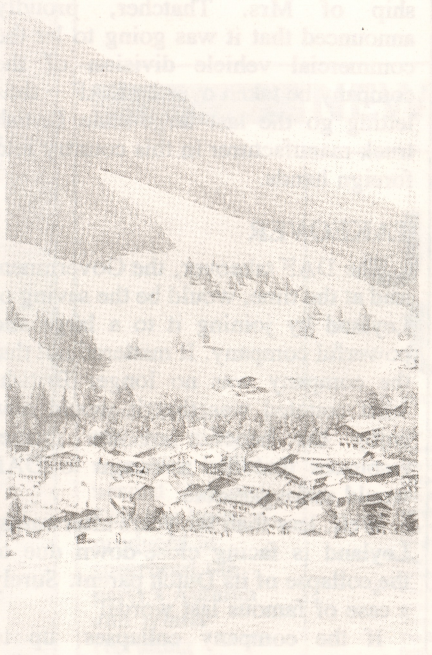
The Freedom Party has already achieved a massive victory in its campaign to win 100,000 names on an 'Austria first' petition, which under the constitution will compel a parliamentary debate on the Party's call for an immediate halt to non-white immigration.

The petition eventually obtained over 400.000 signatures, more than four times the total needed.

This was despite attempts by the Establishment to victimise people who dared to sign it, by threatening police harassment, or dismissal from employment.

Even the enemies of Herr Haider concede that he has won a great propaganda victory with his 'Austria First' petition. The success of the petition, and the huge gains in regional elections across the country, have put the Freedom Party in a very strong position to fight forthcoming national elections.

It looks like Austria has once again produced a great nationalist politician!



AUSTRIA: The hills are alive with the sound of (Turkish) music. But Austrian folk are becoming increasingly alarmed at third world immigration.

Traditional 'British' family is now Asian according to official report

The annual Social Trends report reveals that it is not only immigration which is the cause of Asian expansion in Britain, but the breeding patterns of those already here.

The white population is committing racial suicide by abandoning traditional patterns of marriage, and failing to produce children in sufficient numbers. In the past twenty years, the number of marriages in Britain has fallen by a fifth and the divorce rate for whites is now over fifty per cent. The average white couple produces only 1.3 children — a recipe for extinction. 'Ethnic' birthrates are far higher, and seventy per cent of Pakistani and Bangladeshi households consist of husband, wife and children, compared with only twenty-five per cent of whites. A quarter of white households consist of just a single person.

The Moslem and Hindu religions are thriving, doubling their membership to over two million in the last fifteen years, while the church of England has dwindled to 1.8 million. Islam can now be described as the 'majority' faith in Britain, in that it has the largest number of practising members.

These are of course only official figures; the real number of immigrants is far higher.

RACIAL ATTACKS CONTINUE

But despite media stereotype, most victims are in fact white

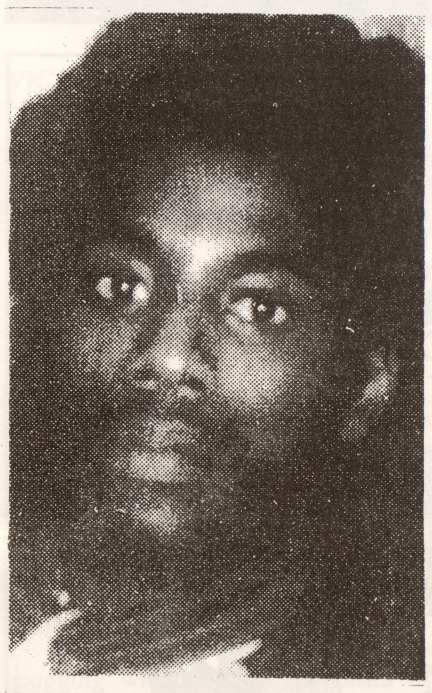
A GROWING number of racial attacks against whites involve the most evil and degrading kind of assault: Rape.

We have been hearing a great deal lately about the phenomenon of 'ethnic rape' in war-torn Bosnia. Few Britons are aware that this revolting type of crime is rife in our own country.

COVER UP

There is, in fact, a concerted attempt by the Establishment media to cover up the extent of race-rape committed against British whites, in the interests of preserving 'multi-racial harmony'.

This is why, although the crimes themselves are usually reported, the racial identity of victim and attacker more often than not remains a secret from the general public.



CONVICTED KILLER Anthony Ferrira was freed from jail, enabling him to commit a vicious sex attack upon a defenceless woman.

A recent harrowing example was the appalling gang-rape of a white woman in a London Park, detailed on this page.

Only one Establishment paper had the courage to report that the attackers were black — albeit in very small print towards the end of the article.

Many other examples of racial attacks go unreported for the simple reason that the left-wing media do not regard attacks on whites as racially motivated, even though any non-white victim of crime is immediately described as a victim of 'racial attack', whatever the actual motive.

The average reader of the Establishment press could be forgiven for believing that only blacks are the victims of 'racial attacks'. In fact, statistically, black-on-white crimes such as rape and mugging are far more common. The myth that 'racist' whites commit more assaults than blacks is a product of the Establishment's distortion of the truth.

DISTORTION

Firstly, there is a gross distortion in the way in which crime statistics are collected. According to the Campaign for Racial Equality, and a growing number of left-wing Chief Constables, 'racist' name-calling is defined as a 'racial attack' — even though no physical violence has occurred!

Conversely, attacks against whites are not regarded as 'racist', since the victim by definition does not belong to a 'minority' group.

But an equally pernicious form of distortion is the way in which the press and television hush up the racial identity of criminals.

A recent example concerned the brutal sexual assault and attempted murder of a British woman by a convicted killer, Anthony Ferrira.

KIDNAPPED

The victim, a 28-year-old woman, was kidnapped by Ferrira and dragged into a disused flat, where she was stripped naked and subjected to what Judge Richard Lowry described as ''dreadful, degrading'' sexual assaults.

ATTACKED

Ferrira then tried to strangle the victim with his scarf. As she struggled to escape he attacked her with a knife and a broken bottle, causing the woman to lose almost half the blood from her body. He then left her for dead, and fled the scene, after first setting fire to the flat and locking the door from the outside.

The woman only escaped when a neighbour heard her screams and unlocked the door.

The most appalling, shameful fact about this attack is that Ferrira should never have been out on the streets at all. He already had a conviction for manslaughter and a string of other violent offences, and should never have been allowed to remain in Britain, let alone be freed to attack a defenceless woman.

CRIMEWAVE

The responsibility for this case should be laid directly at the door of the Tory Government, whose weakness on law and order is responsible for the horrifying crimewave afflicting our country.

YET ANOTHER BRUTAL KILLING

As a wave of violent crime engulfs Britain, the weakness of our 'liberal' legal system is exposed: An evil thug can now expect to receive only four years for the killing of a British mother of four children

A BURGLAR who killed an innocent mother trying to apprehend him has been jailed — for only four years.

The lenient sentence appalled the police and the family of his victim, mother-of-four June Parkes.

Mrs Parkes' husband commented: ''The Judge does not live on the same planet as I do.''

Mr Justice Mantell does in fact live on the same planet — though whether he should be living in the same country as we do is another matter entirely, as his surname indicates that his origins are far to the east of these islands.

MR JUSTICE Mantell seems to value the wellbeing of the criminal rather than the victim. This attitude seems sadly all too common amongst the modern day British legal and political Establishment.

The court was told how thief Darren Blagrove, who had a string of convictions for violent offences, used his getaway car as a lethal weapon when Mrs Parkes and her 19-year-old son Steven tried to block his escape.

Blagrove accelerated straight at them, killing Mrs Parkes and seriously injuring her son.

Blagrove denied murder but was found guilty of manslaughter. Astonishingly, he received only a four-year sentence, and with parole could be free in just two years.

VICTIM Mrs June Parkes, a mother of four, was brutally killed while trying to prevent a burglar fleeing from the scene of the crime. Her killer received only four years.

The pathetic sentence was bitterly condemned, not only by the victim's family, but by the police.

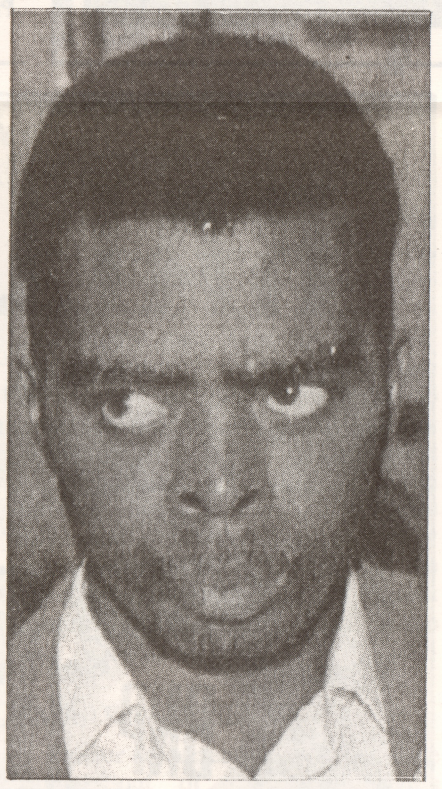
Detective Inspector Peter Moore said: "I'm shocked by the leniency of this sentence. Blagrove is a dangerous man who has dedicated himself to crime.

The killer grinned with delight as the Mr Justice Mantell apologised: ''I'm afraid I have to send you to prison.''

A neighbour said: ''We are appalled. June was a loving, warm hearted lady.''

The pathetic sentence handed out to Mrs Parkes' killer is a clear signal that the Tory Government does not give a damn for white victims of crime. The Tory Establishment only makes a fuss about 'race crime' when the victim is black. In cases where whites are the victims, race is simply not regarded as an issue.

It is time that this sickening liberal hypocrisy is ended once and for all.



KILLER Darren Blagrove grinned with delight on learning that his sentence was only four years. If the BNP were in power, he would have faced a hangman's noose rather than a stretch in a luxury jail.

GANG RAPE HORROR

Vicious attack on woman in Battersea Park raises echoes of New York `wilding' gangs

A WHITE WOMAN jogger was raped in a London park last month by a black 'wilding' gang.

The 28-year-old woman was assaulted by two knife-wielding thugs who raped her and forced her to commit revolting sex acts.

TERROR ORDEAL

The woman was 'struck dumb' with terror during the attack, which occurred in Battersea Park, and was so traumatised that it was almost a month before she told friends about her ordeal. She was then persuaded to report the rape to police.

Detective Constable Mike Fagan commented: ''It was an horrific attack on an innocent young woman jogging in a park where you expect to be safe. She was too terrified to scream — she was struck dumb by fear during her ordeal.''

He added: ''She is still extremely distressed and is finding it hard to tell us the full details of what happened to her.''

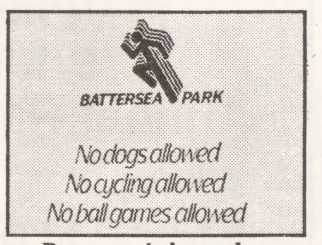
The attack, which took place on 4th January, bore a chilling resemblance to an incident in New York in 1989, in which a white woman was stripped naked, gang-raped and beaten unconscious by a gang of black youths. The American public were shocked and outraged by the crime, which sparked a major debate about race.

SUPPRESSED

In contrast, the London incident has been largely suppressed by the British press, and the racial dimension played down. Under Press Council restrictions, 'racial attacks' can only be described as such when the victim is black. In the case of black-on-white crime, race can only be mentioned if it is 'relevant' — for example if the police issue a description of the suspect.

The man wielding the knife was described as black, 5ft 8ins tall, about 19 with short, untidy Afro-style hair.

The second attacker was also black, 5ft 6ins tall, stocky, 17 to 21 years old, with short Afro hair.



This park was once seen as a safe area to relax. But now it is as dangerous as New York's Central Park.

JOIN THE WELLING CLUB

THE WELLING CLUB is a circle of British National Party supporters who are able and willing to contribute £20 a month to the BNP.

Now that the Party is entering the 'big league' of British politics there is clearly a need for a regular source of income with which to finance necessary expansion.

Money for new equipment, administrative staff, transport and election expenses inevitably becomes more and more necessary as the BNP expands.

A number of members and supporters have already joined the Welling Club, and the additional source of income has proved most useful.

In return for their monthly £20 contributions, members of the Club will receive regular special news bulletins, and will be invited free of charge to an annual dinner, which will be addressed by the Party Chairman.

Those who wish to join the Welling Club should write to: The Welling Club, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW, enclosing their first contribution of £20. Contributions can if desired also be made by bankers order, details of which will be provided on receipt of initial payments.

Sir, — For a long time I have supected that the entire country has gone crazy, but even I never imagined the extent of the insanity until recently. I just managed to get hold of a copy of a magazine, Community Care, which describes itself as 'The Voice of Social Work'. I quote extracts, verbatim:-

> "Hillingdon Social Services Dep-artment spent £1.1 million on 41 refugee children in 1992-93."

That works out at £27,000 per head per annum. For refugee kids?

And:-

> "A high court judge has accepted a London borough's decision not to place a 14-year-old Vietnamese refugee girl in a Save-the-Children home at a cost of £57,000 a year — even though her 17-year-old sister was placed there."

Well isn't that simply awful? Two teenage Vietnamese children being kept apart when it would cost a mere £14,000 a year to keep them together.

According to this magazine written by nitwits for imbeciles, our tender-hearted Government has just pledged extra financial help to those SSDs caring for unaccompanied refugee children. Is it any wonder that we are building up our national overdraft at the rate of £1 billion a week?

R. BARDEN
Dewsbury, Yorks.

Sir, — One become rather incensed when the press complains that the BNP recruits young folk. So what?

Ever since the mid-1920s Labour and Communist teachers have been infiltrating British secondary schools.

These teachers have been regularly brainwashing children into supporting Labour, CND, Irish Republicans and sundry other 'anti-racist' groups.

Help boost BN and Spearhead

THE EDITORS of both British Nationalist and Spearhead are continually striving to improve both the content and appearance of their respective publications.

One of the most frequent requests by readers is for more news and pictures of BNP activities in the local regions up and down the country.

To achieve this, the co-operation of local units is essential. Local leaders need to send us details of their activities as promptly as possible, so that publishing deadlines can be met. If possible, please include a photograph, preferably in colour and local press cuttings. Remember: If you don't tell us about your activities, we cannot publish a report!

BN and Spearhead readers can also help by selling more copies. This can be achieved by paper sales at football matches, on the high street, or door to door. Why not increase your order, and give away any unsold copies?

Tyndall speaks in Nottingham

THE EAST MIDLANDS was given a welcome boost on Monday 8th of February, when British National Party leader John Tyndall travelled to Nottingham to address a meeting of over 120 patriots.

Mr Tyndall received a warm welcome from the standing-room only meeting, which was also addressed by Midlands Organiser John Peacock and speakers from Nottingham and Lincoln.

The meeting would have been even bigger but for the tight security operation and the fact that local authorities refused to allow the BNP to book a venue.

Speakers at Nottingam: above John Peacock; below John Tyndall.

The audience was told of the phenomenal growth of the BNP over the past two years, both nationally and in the Midlands.

John Tyndall's speech was greeted with rapturous applause, as he warned of the dangers of immigration and the need for a genuinely nationalist government for Britain.

The meeting was the biggest ever held in Nottingham, and the collection afterwards raised a record £300.

POLICE CLAMP ON NEO NAZIS

Mansfield IS being targeted as right wing recruitment area

By STAFF REPORTER

Chad exclusively revealed last year that Mansfield had been targeted as a recruiting ground for right-wing groups.

Activists have been working to boost numbers of British National Party supporters in the town and have launched several leafleting campaigns.

And a September social in the town attracted 150 people, according to a 'press release' later issued by the party.

Anti-racists in Mansfield also fear that the Ku Klux Klan is moving into town.

Isolated Ku Klux Klan stickers have been appearing and last year Ku Klux Klan American newspapers were posted around the county — including one with a Mansfield postmark — in what is regarded as a KKK publicity tactic.

A Derbyshire County Council report also named Mansfield as one area earmarked for KKK recruitment because of high white male unemployment — which will get worse if pits close.

COPS PROBE LEAFLET CAMPAIGN

Controversial party says it plans to target town...

By ALEX FINKENRATH

POLICE are investigating after a leafletting campaign in Bedford town centre by the controversial British National Party on Saturday.

Police moved in on campaigners at about 11am on Saturday in Silver Street who were handing out leaflets calling for the execution of a black criminal convicted of murdering a white boy.

But many complainants claim the leaflet distributors also used bad language and were "offensive" on the issue of race which has prompted a police investigation.

The small group of campaigners were sent to Bedford which is thought to be a town with growing support for the extreme right wing group according to a BNP spokesman who assured the Citizen the party would be targeting the town again soon.

Sally Slack, manageress at The Body Shop said: "The campaigners were distributing leaflets outside our shop and three of us felt so strongly about it that we went to speak to them.

"They were there for about an hour and although I could see some people walking around the campaigners and the shop, I do not think we lost out. We were annoyed that they chose to stand outside our shop."

A police spokesman said: "We did send some officers to move the British National Party people on and there were reports of swearing and other abuse. These matters are under investigation."

British National Party spokesman Richard Edmonds said: "We see Bedford as a town of growing support for the party and will be targeting it again.

"I saw the men involved later that day and they were polite and courteous.

"The leaflets are legal and call for the hanging of all child murderers although it is a black murderer who is highlighted.

"The campaigners were only carrying Union Jacks, surely there is nothing wrong with that.

"The complainants are usually political oppo nents."

THE LOCAL PRESS articles shown here are now some weeks out of date, but had to be held over due to shortage of space in previous issues. The* Bedford Citizen *(ABOVE) uses a traditional propaganda ploy of the Establishment press, by implying that the BNP is a criminal organisation.

The BNP is of course perfectly legal, as the* Citizen *is well aware, and the police have no intention of 'investigating' BNP leaflets.

The* Luton Herald and Post *(BELOW) gives a rather more objective report of the launch of the Luton unit, with comments from Andrew Gush.

National Party opens new HQ

A NEW British National Party HQ has just been launched in Luton — based in the Bury Park area of the town.

By CLIVE GRESSWELL

Yesterday leaders of the new Luton and Dunstable section of the movement, operating from a PO box number, announced plans for a membership drive.

Co-founder of the new base, unemployed 38-year-old Andrew Gush, said the BNP is concerned about numbers of immigrants in the area, the spread of Islam, and noisy reggae parties.

He pledged a membership drive in Luton and Dunstable and possible marches in the future.

Mr Gush said there are too many immigrants in the area and there should be staged repatriation.

There was a swift response from the Anti-Nazi League. A spokesman said: "I would hope it will be made impossible for the BNP to operate in such a way. I am sure the people of Bury Park will be most concerned."

BNP's Mr Gush said: "We do feel there is a case for some national racial pride and we are not in favour of the multi-cultural society.

"We see it as an experiment in some areas that has failed."

He complained of people claiming benefit money who do not speak English or have a British culture.

"People are having to suffer the effects of a policy at a very high level of Government which means people have come here and in this country they just basically carry on the way they have elsewhere.

"I feel some of these immigrant customs and ways of life are not compatible with the way of life in this country."

Labour Cllr Mick Guha, the town's first Asian mayor, said the Bury Park community is a very happy multi-racial one with people of all types living peacefully together.

He said: "We are a very friendly community and we don't want elements like this. But they are only a very small party and I am not worried about them.

"It's a free country and if they come in there is not a lot we can do, and there is nothing we would do except to tell people to stay away from them."

BNP INTERVENTION HELPS COVENTRY FOLK STOP PERVERTS' CLINIC

THE BNP has won a major moral victory in its campaign to stop a local council opening a clinic for sex perverts in Exhall, near Coventry. According to the local press, the council cancelled its plans after being unable to insure the building due to the "controversial interest shown by the right-wing British National Party."

LOCAL PROTEST

The BNP joined the local residents protest in January, giving the campaign a huge boost and gaining massive local publicity for the BNP into the bargain.

The BNP campaign began with a 60-strong regional activity in the area on 9th January, as reported in last month's BN. This gained considerable local publicity for the Party, which increased to a crescendo when Midlands Organiser John Peacock announced a victory rally to be held on 20th February.

HEADLINES

Not only did the Party make front page headlines in the local press, but a local branch of ANAL vowed to "smash" the activity — which always serves as a prediction of certain BNP victory!

Sex clinic scrapped as insurance bill becomes 'too high'

Arson attacks, barricades, threats and petitions, together with the controversial interest shown by the right-wing British National Party, have led to the high excess demand by the Norwich, the insurance firm used by the building's owners, Coventry City Council.

This crucial paragraph in the local Coventry press tells how Labour and Tory sex-clinic plans were scuppered by the timely intervention of the BNP, campaigning with local people.

60-STRONG storm-column forms up outside Bedworth and prepares to tour the local housing estates in support of local people against the plans of the Labour and Tory council

In the event, the BNP's rally and leafleting event went like clockwork. In contrast to the BNP's excellent local turnout, the reds had to bus their supporters in from Leicester.

The hapless 'revolutionaries' were immediately rounded up by the police for their own protection, and spent three hours on waste ground while the BNP continued its activity!

The most unforgettable moment of the day was when an entire pub cheered as the landlord was presented with a copy of British Nationalist.

As a result of this campaign, the BNP has launched a new unit in Coventry, and won considerable publicity.

THE BNP makes front page headlines in the local press. According to Labour's sick ideology, anyone who opposes sex perverts is a 'fascist'

'WE DON'T WANT FASCIST RALLY'

WORRIED councillor, Charlie Garratt, is fighting plans for a right-wing 'fascist' rally at a Bedworth recreation ground.

The British National Party hope to use Heckley Fields as a rally point next month to protest against the proposed child sex abuse clinic in Exhall.

But Cllr Garratt, vice-chairman of Nuneaton and Bedworth's policy committee, said the meeting may be used as a right-wing recruiting ground.

"The BNP is a party which is well known for its fascist and racist views. It is a party which feeds on fear, hatred and prejudice."

Despite being a fervent supporter of free speech, he would be opposing the rally if the application came before the policy committee.

BNP Midlands organiser, John Peacock, said there was a BNP-backed demonstration around ten days ago against the sex clinic at Alderman McDonnell House. The party want another rally to show they were on the side of residents.

Mr Peacock added: "The residents of Exhall do not want this clinic and we agree with from society and locked up for a very long time."

But Cllr Garratt said: "Feelings are running high on both sides on this issue and an awful lot of people with prejudices would attend. I think the BNP would see it as an ideal recruiting platform."

Strong opposition to the BNP rally is also coming from the Coventry Anti-Nazi League, who say the party is a breakaway group of the National Front.

They claim the BNP was linked with the racist murder last year of an Afghanistan refugee, Ruhullah Aramesh. BNP graffiti and stickers were found on the door of his London home.

Andy Meek of the 300-strong Coventry league said: "We would be seeking to pre-strength of opposition from the BNP and the general public.

It is important to note that the BNP has no criticism of the majority of ordinary constables, many of whom admitted that they were disgusted at having to carry out the orders that they had been given. Only a small number of over-zealous, mainly higher-ranking officers behaved badly.

Indeed, many ordinary constables appeared to be taking their time in lifting nationalists from the route of the march, in that it took no less than two hours before the area was declared safe enough for the march to proceed. One group of constables even advised BNP supporters to sue the Metropolitan Police!

In the vast majority of cases, it appears that detainees were not officially cautioned or told under what law they were being arrested, in clear breach of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE).

Our advice to sue the police is therefore not designed as a vendetta against the police, but rather designed to cause embarrassment to the politicians who gave them their orders on that day.

The BNP can take credit from the fact that out of almost four hundred people who were rounded up on the day, only three were actually charged with minor public order offences.

This clearly demonstrates the British National Party's commitment to law and order, which remains firm even under the most testing provocation.

Derby BNP unit storms into action!

NEO-NAZI RACE ROW

POLICE have been asked to investigate a British National Party leaflet which has been distributed in the city.

by Chris Baker

Copies of the leaflet were pushed through letterboxes in the Uttoxeter New Road area last week.

Now the city's Racial Equality Council has handed it to police to investigate whether it breaks laws banning the publication of racially sensitive material.

Agenda

Watchdogs and anti-racist campaigners last week branded the leaflet sick and the work of neo-Nazi extremists after it was exposed by the Evening Telegraph.

The BNP is using the leaflet to canvass areas of Derby for new recruits.

The document sets out he party's agenda for change in Britain, claiming the BNP "is the only party that puts the British people first — in jobs, housing, education and welfare".

And the leaflet, headed Join Us! depicting an arm waving the Union Jack, claimed the BNP was "the only party that defends the rights of white communities under threat from foreign immigrants".

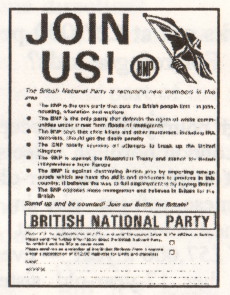
The document gives a post office box in Welling, Kent, as an address for would-be recruits to send their £12 enrolment fee.

But Sue Argylle, of Derby's Anti-Nazi League, said: "Whatever its says, the simple fact remains that the BNP is a Nazi organisation."

Police pledged to investigate the leaflet if a complaint about it was lodged. They could take legal action against its publishers if the leaflet contravened race relations laws.

Tony Walsh, of the Racial Equality Council, handed it to officers yesterday.

He said: "Unfortunately this kind of activity leads to further intimidation and harassment of minority racial groups in Derby."



● Hate leaflet ... police will check if it is legal.

THE DERBY BNP have certainly made considerable impact with the 'Join Us' campaign leaflets, according to the* Derby Telegraph. *The BNP is of course labelled 'neo-Nazi' in this rather hysterical report. The paper has also falsely tried to link BNP activities to alleged 'racial attacks' in the city

- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum possible self-sufficiency in food production.

- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish Agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- Repeal of the laws permitting homosexuality and abortion (except where the latter is the result of rape or necessary on medical grounds), the wiping out of AIDS and a return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
